ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORTS

HICKORY, N. C.
THURSDAY EVENING.
October 14, 1915.

ANOTHER BAKER.

With the conclusion of the series of games between the Philadelphia and Boston clubs yesterday afternoon, there flashed over the wires the name of another hero, another J. Franklin Baker, if you please, in the person of Harry Hooper of California. He entered into the baseball hall of fame, and whatever may happen in Europe or Asia or Africa, the name of Harry Hooper will not be forgot among the fans in this generation. The feat of knocking two home runs in one game is accomplished but frequently—seldom in a world's series. This Hooper did.

While laurels will be placed on Hooper, Lewis, Shore—our North Carolina Shore at that—Foster and Leonard, a great deal of praise is due the fighting Phillies for the manner in which they encountered certain defeat from the start. Only Alexander, the incomparable, was able to win a game from the Red Sox champions, and he was unable to repeat. The Red Sox outfield is the best in both leagues, even Cobb, Milan, Crawford or Luderus not comparing with Carigan's trio. It was impossible for a team composed of such stars, backed up by air-tight pitching, to lose to the gamest sort of ball team.

But the major portion of praise will go to Hooper for his saving hits. He is the outstanding star.

OPPORTUNITY FOR SERVICE

Mr. Charles Bagby submitted a proposition to the alumni of the University of North Carolina the other night that ought to be enlarged upon to such an extent as to interest not only the alumni of this institution, but those of other colleges in the state also. It was to subscribe a certain amount of money every year and to donate it to the maintenance of the Hickory and Newton libraries. If this were done, it would enable these institutions to provide more and better books, would make it possible for them to perform a larger service, and would provide opportunities for wholesome reading for both those who have grazed in good libraries and those whose reading has been limited through no fault of their own.

The Record submits that if college men and women in Catawba county are desirous of showing their appreciation of the advantages they were able to secure and at the same time of rendering aid distinct service to this community, they cannot show it in a better way than getting behind the public libraries and extending their benefits to every nook and corner of the county.

We have heard much oratory at various college gatherings—which was well and some of it good—but here is a chance to do something worth while.

IT CAN WAIT

Disappointed over the number of bids for the lighting and power franchise, city council last night rejected the offers of the Southern Public Utilities Company of Charlotte and the A. A. Shuford Mill Company of Hickory. There was little difficulty in agreeing to the form of the franchise, but the best offer the city had was three-fourths of one per cent made by the A. A. Shuford Mill Company, and inasmuch as the present franchise will not expire for three years yet, council felt that it had plenty of time to act. The next step will be the insertion of advertisements for new bids. Since the franchise will run for thirty years, council thought it could afford to go slowly. Once awarded, it will be a long time before a change can be made.

The white way system will be delayed indefinitely of course, but that can wait in the interest of all the people.

The Record is not offering council any advice, but it was glad to observe that Hickory citizens attended the sessions and were willing to give the authorities the benefit of their wisdom. This being the case, the city is not likely to make a mistake.

We are glad that the Caldwell and Gaston county fairs had good weather for a starter, whatever the rest of the week may bring them. Both are good live counties, and ought to do well.

SPEAKING OF THE FAIR

The securing of the St. Paul's Seminary school property for the use of the fair means that the institution will be able to grow. The directors have given Colonel Thornton credit for his public-spiritedness in donating the use of the property free of charge, and he is entitled to much credit. It is a little less than three weeks before the big event is with us again, and from present indications it will be a bigger success than ever before.

The Record sincerely hopes that Catawba county people, who have set a pace that the rest of the south is endeavoring to follow, will make the fair so good that even those who have kept in close touch with it during the seven years of the association will marvel at the result. They can make it a great fair.

A county that has wrought miracles in North Carolina ought to set a very high standard for county fairs. This is what those backing the fair are banking on. It is bound to be first class.

PAY-UP WEEK

Pay-Up Week, which will be held in Hickory soon, is a simple proposition intended to do everybody in the city good. A man owes it to himself and society to live up to his contract, whether oral or written, and if Pay-Up Week results in convincing any number of citizens that the small debts contracted here and there are as binding on them morally as if they had signed deeds, then a whole lot of people will feel better. A special effort ought to be made to balance accounts—first, because it is right to do so; second, because the merchant is entitled to the money he has earned; and third, because every man should want to be known as a citizen who can be trusted to meet his just obligations. The Record believes that every citizen in arrears with local merchants will make an honest effort to square accounts.

While there is nothing surprising in it, we note with a great deal of pleasure that H. Galt Braxton, though not a native, has caught on to Tar Heel ways like one to the manner born, and is pushing every good thing in his excellent paper. Editor Braxton is performing a service not only for his community, but for the entire state, with his Kinston Free Press.

To be perfectly frank about it, the Record is mighty glad the world's series games are over. They have been delaying us for five days for nearly an hour a day, and we doubt whether they have been worth the time. But the Record thought its patrons probably desired these games, and it cheerfully went to the extra expense of providing accounts of them.

The Columbia State observes that lynchings have been found unnecessary in North Carolina and Virginia, states in which criminals are generally given prompt trials. Criminals would be tried promptly in South Carolina and Georgia also if the mobs would give the courts a chance.

This was a pretty rough day for the circus, but persons who like tented shows won't let a little thing like rain interfere.

We can agree with Colonel Roosevelt that everybody in the United States should be an American citizen.

"Sleepy old Charleston" had to be protected by the militia while the folks balloted for mayor.

Persons returning from Lenoir say that the Caldwell county fair is creditable in every way.

Get ready for the Catawba County Fair.

OPEN TO PUBLIC

Southern Railway Dispatches Its Business in Full Light.

Richmond, Va., Oct. 14.—At the annual meeting of the stockholders of Southern Railway Company, a large number of individual stockholders attending in person and a great majority of the total capitalization of the company being represented either in person or by proxy, Fairfax Harrison, president of the company, Robert M. Gallaway, banker of New York, and John W. Grant, capitalist of Atlanta, Ga., whose terms as directors expired, were re-elected and Henry B. Spencer, vice-president of the company, who was elected by the board to fill the unexpired term of the late Col. A. B. Andrews, was also elected.

Following the policy inaugurated last year, the meeting was open to the public and there was full and frank discussion of the report covering the operations of the company for the fiscal year, ended June 30, which was submitted to the stockholders at this meeting, and of the plans and prospects for the coming year. President and other principal officers were in attendance and all questions asked by stockholders in regard to the management of the property were fully answered and full information given concerning the affairs of the company and conditions in the territory it serves.

CALDWELL FAIR IS PROVING SUCCESS

(By James A. Robinson.)

Lenoir, Oct. 14.—An ideal day. An ideal fair. And I deal with you honestly in saying that Caldwell county is now pulling off one of the most unique fairs in the history of county fairs in this state. It is the first one—and it is a good one. It is a county fair pure and simple; without the trimmings of skin games, and loud and questionable exhibitions to separate the visitors from their good coin. This fair is an assembling of the achievements of its citizens, and the results of their labors and home craft. It is a revelation of progress and industry.

All roads lead to Lenoir and they are lined with the best people of the county, coming in with faces beaming with good cheer—out for a jolly time and to lend their presence to the biggest feat their county has inaugurated in its history.

The procession yesterday was formed at 10 o'clock, at the head of the square, led by the Lenoir band, automobiles, containing officers of the fair, and the speaker, Senator Lee S. Overman. The notable feature of the parade was the school children. They embraced the city school, and the schools of the county. Each school bore a banner designating its name, and where it was from. It eclipsed anything before attempted. Probably never again will such a spectacle be presented to the crowds that lined the streets along the line of march to the fair grounds as was offered to their gaze this morning. No one who witnessed the sight of those twelve hundred sweet-faced children marching by could help from being inspired with higher aspirations. It was grand. It was glorious. It was magnificent. The whole of Lenoir bowed at the feet of those children and their teachers who made possible the soul-stirring pageant.

At the grounds this entire body of twelve hundred children assembled around the speaker's stand, and it was one of the most inspiring sights seen in many a day. The entire number sang songs, and the volume of their voices, and harmony, was thrilling.

Rev. Z. V. Bernhart welcomed the great concourse of people in behalf of the ministers of Caldwell county. He announced that there would be devotional exercises each day of the fair. This is something new for fairs, and shows that Caldwell county recognizes the source of all blessings. He also announced that Bibles would be given away at cost, having been donated to the fair for this purpose.

Rev. E. N. Joyner, of the Episcopal church, invoked the blessing in a most beautiful prayer.

Lieutenant Governor W. C. Newland, in a warm and manly manner, introduced the Honorable Lee S. Overman, United States senator from this state. The senator was in a happy humor, and made an interesting address on the benefits of agriculture, education, good roads, and the aids the federal government is giving the farmers. He was liberally applauded throughout his speech.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCE

The final quarterly conference of the West Hickory Methodist church will be held Thursday night by the presiding elder, Rev. Lee T. Mann, the hour of meeting being 7:30 o'clock.

ST. PAUL ACADEMY GROUNDS
To the Editor of the Record:
It seems there ought to be public spirit enough in Hickory for it to retain the St. Paul Academy and grounds attached, as a public institution. The building and grounds are ideal for any kind of public institution. Hickory needs all the public institutions that can be had. The writer would not suggest the kind, but the house and grounds both are large and are well adapted for any kind of public purpose. But he would suggest that some of the leading citizens of Hickory get together at once on the subject. He understands the property is going to be sold right away without delay.
